The Midleton Food & Drink Festival 2nd & 3rd September 2006

The 3rd Midleton Food and Drink Festival, affectionately known as 'The Feast of the East' will return to the streets of the wonderful market town of Midleton on the 2nd and 3rd September next.

Set in the undulating and bountiful countryside of East Cork, Midleton has become southern Ireland's hub of culinary excellence. With a long held and world-renowned reputation for whiskey making traditions and more recently, its fine Farmers Market, Midleton is a perfect setting for this new and exciting Food and Drink Festival. The rich resources of the surrounding farmland and the wealth of excellent seafood available from nearby Ballycotton has made the Festival a celebration of its authentic and locally produced fare.

All that is wholesome and exceptional will be available for the visitors, from a unique array of breads, cheeses and meats to the lavish flavours and spices from all over the world. Up to 50 fresh food and drink stalls will form the nucleus of the Festival as well as savouring the many international flavours from all over the world.

Adding to the carnival flavour, younger visitors will be thrilled by the street entertainers, who will be taking part in the festivities. At night time, the atmosphere will continue with live entertainment in the local hotels, bars and restaurants.

Intermingled with the food celebration will be delightful display of crafts at the Courtyard, who will play host to the vibrant East Cork craft sector.

The Midleton Food and Drink Festival epitomises the new food culture that has developed in Midleton, combined with a truly remarkable extravaganza of fun.

The Festival is sponsored by Jameson Irish Whiskey, Ulster Bank, East Cork Area Development (ECAD) through the DART European Interreg III programme and Fáilte Ireland. The festival is also supported by East Cork Tourism and has the crucial dedication of a fantastic festival committee.
